A PRIM ROSE SCHOOLS EDITION

Dear Parents,

This new year brought in a lot of happiness and joy as we had many celebrations lined up for the month. The Primrose family was all set for the kick start to the new year.

Its time for our middle schoolers to graduate and move on to high school. There is so much of excitement in the high school subject selection counselling among the minds of the children. The school provides wide range of subjects to choose from. Unlike other schools Primrose provides 13 different subjects for the children to choose their subject of choice. They have options to read Commercial Studies, Art, Physical Education and Environmental Science right from class 9 onwards.

An orientation to class VIII parents were given describing their role on supporting their kids for high school education.

Pongal festival is always close to the heart of children as they expect the big horn bulls come in and take them for a ride . Children enjoyed the non polluting ride which has almost become extinct. This time we added a Pongal eating and uriadi completions for teachers. It was surprising to see the unleashed potential of everyone. It was fun time for everyone around the school.

India is on her way and making her progress as the biggest republic in the world. This republic day was special with my children as I was involved with them in story telling session to make them understand what was taken to make a rule book to rule ourselves.

We also had a yoga session of 108 SURYA NAMASKAR at our school conducted by Shanthi School of Yoga. I felt really happy to see young children, young adults and young seniors landing their backs up and down to toil for 2 hrs to complete a session. Welcome young India.

It was again time for showcasing their talents. We celebrated Vasudha Vatsalya, which is our effort to create awareness for our environment and love we need to show for our surroundings. Pre KG, LKG and UKG children were exuberant in displaying their talents on stage.

We have loads of work being planned and executed for celebrating Primathon which is our little effort to change the mighty society for honouring women.

Regards,
Principal

ORIENTATION OF CLASS VIII

"We don't push our subjects on the children, we suggest and not impose"

The orientation of Primrose Schools is typically designed to review the subject allocation to cater the needs of the children. It allows the children as well as parents to get exposed to various subjects. A detailed orientation on the subjects available in our school and their benefits in the future were discussed. The orientation lasted for a couple of hours and doubts were clarified by the Principal in choosing the subjects for class IX. Primrose is proud to say that we offer 13 different subjects to choose from IX onwards.
